The Editor,
Journal of Saidu Medical College ,
Saidu Sharif, Swat.

I congratulate the patron, Editor and all the members of the editorial board of JSMC for putting their hard work in publishing the second issue of JSMC from Swat during security forces operation and poor law & order situation. This indeed is due to the hard work of the management of the SMC and dedicated efforts on the part of the editorial board along with the quality services provided by the publisher, that we are having in hand the beautiful and presentable second issue of the journal. All you deserve congratulations on the concerted effort for serving the cause of the medical science and promotion of research and knowledge. This will promote the interest of the medical community working in this part of the country for the cause of knowledge and research.

All the original articles and the case report are of standard quality and contain information for future researchers and clinical management of patients. The format of the structured abstract is also appreciated with the hope that the same will be adapted for all the articles in the future issues of the journal.

The editorial written on childhood cataract is an important but neglected aspect of Ophthalmology is a timely attention diversion of the Ophthalmologist.

I wish the editorial board not only to sustain the quality but to put more efforts to further improve the journal and take it to the level that it gets the national, regional and international recognition.

Dr. Abid Naseem,
Assistant Professor,
Department of Ophthalmology,
